

Filing Period Opens For Judge-Clerk Election

Marvin Tedder Seeking Clerk Post; School
Filing Also Underway

A former city fireman, Marvin Tedder, was the lone candidate to file today for the April 30 judge-clerk of the city court election in Granite City. Four other prospective candidates are circulating petitions.

Also underway in the Quad-Cities is the annual filing of candidates for school board posts in the Granite City, Madison and Venice districts. The school board filing period closes March 19 and the election is scheduled for April 9.

Tedder, who maintained a position outside the office of City Clerk A. L. Stevens from noon yesterday until 8:15 a.m. today, filed petitions as an independent candidate for the office of clerk of the city court. He resides at 2446 State street.

Stevens said others with petitions include Fred P. Schuman, incumbent of 2850 Grand avenue, and Horace L. Calvo, 3254 Westchester drive, a local attorney, for city judge; and Mrs. Helen Homan, incumbent of 2545 Adams street, and Al Ward Jr., a former alderman, who lives at 2408 Hodges avenue, for the office of clerk.

Judge Schuman was elected to the post in a special election after the death of Judge Wesley Lunders, and Mrs. Homan was appointed to the clerk post following the death of her father-in-law, Alvah N. Homan.

Both city posts to be filled for full six-year terms. The city judge salary will be $7,000 a year, while the clerk post now pays $400 a month. The filing period will end March 10.

No new filings or petitions have been reported in the Granite City school district, where the two incumbent board members with expiring terms, President Homer Huber and Secretary Robert Edmunds, are seeking re-election.

The two Venice school board incumbents, who were not ending filed late last week for re-election. They are Secretary Harold Seibert and Michael J. Leathern Jr. No other filings or petitions have been reported.

In the Madison school district, the incumbents, Vasil C. Grail and Dr. Steve K. Grail, are circulating petitions but there have been no filings.

Halbes Die On Same Day From Heart Attacks

Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Halbe, 2841 Ralph street, died of heart attacks at their home within four hours of each other Saturday morning. Mrs. Christina Halbe, 62, was found dead at 1:30 a.m. and Mr. Halbe, 69, was stricken at 5:05 a.m.

The couple had watched television until 11:30 and then retired to bed. Mr. Halbe had trouble sleeping and, after getting out of bed, noticed that Mrs. Halbe was not breathing. He summoned his son, Charles, who lives in a house trailer behind the home, and they determined that Mrs. Halbe was dead. The other two sons, Harrison and Raymond, of St. Louis and Raymond of Granite City, were then called to the house.

While the family was discussing arrangements later in the morning, Mr. Halbe was stricken suddenly while sitting in a chair. Both had been under medical care for heart ailments. They were married in April 1915 and had lived here since then. Both attended Concordia Lutheran Church, where Mr. Halbe was a member elder and Mrs. Halbe a member of the Ladies Aid.

Mr. Halbe was born in Alhambra, Ill., and retired three years ago from Granite City Steel Co., where he worked 46 years. Mrs. Halbe was a native of St. Louis, Mo.

Besides the three sons, Mr. and Mrs. Halbe have five grandchildren. Mr. Halbe has two brothers, Edward and Charles, and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Vieth of Chicago, Mrs. Amanda Fihansen of St. Louis, and Mrs. Mary Vieth of Chicago.

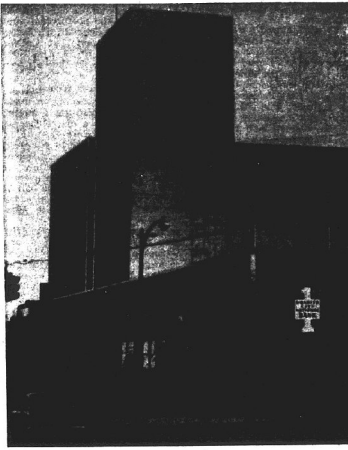

Mrs. Halbe is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Frank York of Oakland, Calif., and two brothers, William R. Dorisch of San Bernardino, Calif., and Charles E. Dorisch of Phoenix, Ariz.

Joint funeral services were held today at 2 p.m. at the Catholic church. Other arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Civic Leaders Devote Day To Area's Progress

Strategy for metropolitan development in the Illinois-Missouri bi-state area was discussed at an all-day meeting of 125 civic leaders held Saturday at the Park Plaza Hotel in St. Louis.

The two-day meeting of the Bi-State Development Committee, composed of 125 civic leaders from 125 communities in the area, was held at the Park Plaza Hotel in St. Louis. The committee was organized last summer by the presidents of the three major universities in the area — St. Louis, Southern Illinois, and Washington University. After three meetings of its own, the committee called Saturday's conference to obtain a broader representation of ideas and suggestions on "What Strategy for Progress?"

Keynote speaker was David Loeck, director of the Metropolitan Planning Commission of Minneapolis-St. Paul. Loeck reviewed work being conducted in other communities of the United States and outlined six ideas and concepts to serve as guides for those working in the metropolitan development field in the St. Louis area.

Lists Six Guideposts

He listed the following:

1. The problems of metropolitan development in this area are not unique. They are nationwide problems and are being faced elsewhere with results.
2. The strategies that can be applied to metropolitan development problems are exceedingly varied and include approaches through existing governmental agencies, through civic organizations, through a reorganization of the governmental structure, and through education to learn about the problems.
3. Communities making headway in metropolitan development are those which realize that they are dealing with human needs and human problems.
4. Progress means to result from the metropolitan community.

Deadline Saturday For Sewer Plan Grant

A letter which either went astray or was misplaced may result in a special session for Granite City council members this week to comply with a Saturday deadline for fulfilling all requirements for a $120,000 federal grant to plan the city's master sewer and drainage program.

City Atty. William Beatty, who was in contact Thursday with the Chicago regional office of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, said he will have to see the contract before determining if a special council session will be necessary. "We might have to request a deadline extension."

The city was unaware of the need for additional paper work in connection with the grant until late last week when Mayor Davis received a letter from the Chicago office asking if the city was still interested and specifying the deadline, as set forth in an earlier letter.

The mayor said he had no knowledge of an earlier letter, but that after he has had an opportunity to study the forms, he will determine if a special council session will be needed or if a deadline extension will be sought.

The city was advised late in December that its application for the $120,000 federal grant had been approved.

Members of the city council's special Sewer Committee and Citizens' Master Sewer and Drainage Committee are currently in negotiations with the engineering firm of Shepard, Morgan & Schwaab for a contract to undertake preliminary surveys and planning for the project.

Heart Surgery Thursday For E. Madison Infant

Heart surgery for nine-month-old William Turner of East Madison has been advanced from March 8 to Thursday, March 3, to take advantage of an upward trend in his condition. He has been showing increasing strength in recent days.

The 25 persons scheduled to donate blood on the morning of the operation are being notified of the change in date by the blood bank of Barnes Hospital, St. Louis. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Turner, the infant is a patient at the St. Louis Children's Hospital. The operation is intended to correct heart defects which were present when he was born.

Nancy Sherfy, 4, Venice Fire Victim, Dies

Little Nancy Sue Sherfy, 4, who was severely burned in a flash fire at 1126 (rear) Market street in Venice early Thursday morning, died at 2:30 a.m. Friday in St. Elizabeth Hospital.

She had suffered burns to her face, arm and hand in a flash fire through the entire four-room frame house.

The other badly burned victims were Nancy's mother, Mrs. Jeanette Sherfy, 22, and her sister, Helen, 3, now in fair condition. Helen was transferred to St. Louis' Cardinal Glennon Hospital Thursday afternoon when it was feared she would lose sight in one eye. They suffered burns to the face, arms and back.

Nancy's father, Wilson Sherfy, 24, and small brother, William, 2, were also burned but were released from the hospital. The fire apparently was caused when a candle was knocked over.

GC Steel Moves Into New Offices

With a minimum of delay and confusion, 125 office workers of Granite City Steel Co. settled down this morning in new quarters in the Quad-Cities only skyscraper and largest commercial building, 20th and State streets.

The two-block move from old offices at 20th street and Madison avenue started at 6 p.m. Friday, unhampered by snow and ice, and was completed at 4:30 a.m. Saturday, just a half-hour behind schedule.

Later Saturday morning, a staff of 80 office workers arrived at the building to arrange equipment, supplies and the large volume of materials to be taken from old file cabinets and placed in new built-in cabinets.

Installation of more than 100 telephones was undertaken Saturday and completed Sunday, and little work was necessary on Sunday, such as cleaning up of the debris from the move.

The desks and equipment were all dusted and ready for the office force this morning. The 125 office workers had been briefed prior to the move and knew just where their new quarters were.

It was just a matter of locating their desks, and this was accomplished today with little confusion.

The building, five stories tall, with a seven-story tower for the two elevators, was started in June 1958, and the weekend's move was three months ahead of the original schedule, which called for construction to be completed by June 1960.

With occupancy by Granite City Steel Co., the building is now completely in use even to the operation of fifth floor cafeterias. The new quarters at 20th street and Edison avenue for the First Granite City National Bank were occupied last week ago, and the bank opened in its new location last Monday.

"Our child swung his toy truck on the end of its string — it accidentally struck his playmate in the face, causing a serious eye injury. I hear talk of a law suit for $10,000 damages. Would a personal liability policy, costing only $10.00 cover such an award plus the legal costs?"

Miss Betty Jane Kienle And Richard Coleman Wed

Alter bouquets of white flowers, together with emerald arrangements and ferns, decorated St. Joseph's Catholic Church for the wedding Saturday morning of Miss Betty Jane Kienle, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kienle, 2223 Grand avenue, and Richard Coleman, son of Dr. Leo Coleman, 2315 Grand avenue.

The Rev. Charles Mulcrone officiated at the 10 o'clock nuptial mass, which was followed by a breakfast for the wedding party and the families at the home of the bridegroom's father. In the evening friends attended a reception at the American Legion Home.

Mr. Clota Judd presided at the organ, and Richard Judd was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white silk organza decorated with a tight bodice and a pointed neckline trimmed with pearls and sequins. The skirt, full length and ending in a train, featured a bustle effect in the back. The sleeves were short and the bride's veil of tulle was held in place with a pearl crown.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and white velvet tubing.

Attendants for the bride, Miss Sharon Curry, maid of honor, Mrs. Barbara Campbell, bridesmaid, and Miss Cheryl Kienle, sister of the bride, junior maid, were dressed alike in azure blue and deep V necklines in the back. The sleeves were short and the full skirts, bell-shaped, were of organza. Their flowers were white carnations and yellow daisies arranged in cascades.

Donald Coleman was best man for his brother, and Richard Coleman, the bride's brother, was groomsmen. The ushers were Norman Laird and Dennis Baird.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kienle selected a light blue wool suit with fur trim, matching accessories and a corsage of off-white cymbidium orchids.

The former Miss Kienle was graduated from the Granite City high school and is employed by Dempsey-Tegeler & Co., in St. Louis. Mr. Coleman received his early education in the Granite City schools and was graduated from St. Thomas Military Academy in Minnesota. He subsequently attended St. Louis University and is now a student at Southern Illinois University. He is employed in the accounting department of the Wohl Shoe Co., St. Louis.

After a honeymoon in New Orleans where they will attend the Mardi Gras, the newlyweds will reside at 1814 Delmar avenue.

Madison JV Coach Develops Varsity Basketball Players At An .848 Clip

High school junior varsity basketball teams generally take a back seat to their elder brothers, and although no varsity coach ever questions their importance (at least no coach looking ahead to the next season), the fans turn out to see the varsity in action.

But a mild-mannered JV coach in Madison has gone quietly about the business of building such a phenomenal record over the past four seasons with sophomores and junior varsity players as to rate more than the casual interest usually shown in such goings-on.

Lee Ashby, who has piled up 84 victories in 100 games since the Arkansas State graduate took over the reins at Madison four years ago. The 18-4 record

"His grades, even his whole outlook on school in general, have improved since he's been playing with us," Ashby says, "and although he may not lead the team in scoring this year he could possibly have the best average and looks like a candidate for varsity forward next season."

Development is also a job that's getting them ready for Bud by teaching fundamentals and getting them interested in the game. The boys who have stuck with it have found it pays off, for them and myself.

Ashby returned to his home town of Knoxville, Ark., after graduation from Arkansas State, took over the school's varsity squad and compiled a 23-3 record in his first year as a high school coach.

"We had run up a 13-1 record the next season when the gym burned down," he remembers, "and finished the year with an 18-5 record, playing our home games on an outdoor dirt court." No gym was ready the next year and Ashby played dirt court ball the entire season, his worst at 12-12. Married while still in school, Ashby slipped coaching one season, moved to Granite City and worked in the salary department of the DMI division at Granite City Steel.

Coaxed back into the basketball grind in 1956, he had sophomores and junior varsity squads that totaled 33 wins and three losses that season.

Ashby has devoted his time and talent strictly to junior varsity ball since then. In 1957-58, the Madison Jayvees were 17-4, and last season 36-5, giving the Arkansas native a total of 100 wins and 10 losses.

By Press Record Staff Photographer

LEE ASHBY, whose JV teams have won 84 games, and lost only 15 of Madison high school in the past four seasons.

ord the Jayvees currently boast is about par for Ashby, whose current team has rededicated itself almost completely by defeating in later games, two of the squads it lost to early in the season.

"I feel all four of our losses this year were due to the fact that several of my players moved up to the varsity squad just before we took on the teams that defeated us," he says.

"It took my new crews a game or so to get to the point where they worked well together, and then we were okay. Highland and Roxana beat us under just circumstances, but we were pretty well settled the second time we met these clubs and won as a result," he observed.

Personal Varsity

"The Jays' right now are not the same group which started the season. Four have moved to the varsity squad, with the remaining team consisting of Terry Andrews, Bob Haynes, Larry Lux, Dick Kimer, Clarence Woolfolk, Tim Cotton, Dan Trots, Mick Gravelle, Charles Venarsky, Cal Davis, Ed Young, Don Freeman and Shirley Barton. Five of these have seen action in varsity suits while remaining members of the JV squad, and Ashby is certain they will lose them to varsity coach Charles 'Buddy' Mueller next season.

What is the secret of continued success with the team? "It's a combination of several factors," says Ashby, "but the main thing is that we have a very able assistant varying 'Simply moving the ball.' Ashby claims, 'If we slow down and set it up, we're dead,' was the way he phrased it. 'For some reason, the boys seem to shoot better on the move.' The Jayvees' principal attack this season has naturally been the fast break.

"We've gotten help from big men, of course," Ashby admitted, "and several have developed quickly for us."

The best development example this year, perhaps, is Cal Davis, a sophomore who had played nothing but physical education ball until the current season was half over. The 6-4 player was urged to take a try at the game on an organized level, and last season pumped through 27 points against Highland.

Squires Top Explorer Post 18 For 12th Straight Win, Playoff Title

The Columbia Squires played erratically for nearly three quarters Thursday night at the Nemoval gym, but became the park district's Senior Teenage basketball playoff champions with a good final period downing Explorer Post 18 by a 61-57 score.

The win entitled the Squires to two trophies in Senior Teenage play this season, one for the regular season championship, and the other for the playoff title. The winners posted a 12-0 record in competition against league opponents.

The Squires had four players in double figures, led by Hoeffke with 15, but they were hurt when they lost the services of Guard Harold Ellis, who twisted an ankle in the second period.

The Senior Teenage schedule, with the exception of a makeup game between Lincoln Place Health Club and the Five D's that does not affect the final standings, ended with Thursday's playoff game.

Trinity Tabernacle forced Third Baptist deeper into the cellar of the park district Church basketball league Thursday night with a 74-65 win at the Nemoval gym.

Third Baptist lost its 10th straight game in the process, while Trinity was posting its second win in 10 tries. None of the title contenders in the loop were active over the weekend.

Third Baptist made a contest of the game in a wide-open final quarter, scoring 29 points while being held to only eight in the first period and nine in quarter number three.

Bernie Cockrell hit 24 points to lead Trinity, while Tom Nance added 18 more. Jim Whaley's 15 point effort was the only double figure performance by a member of the losing squad. Trinity led at the half, 31-27.

Host Squad Seeded First; GCHS, Madison Meet For Third Time Tuesday

This IHSA regional basketball tournament for prep teams in this area, often called the toughest in downstate Illinois, will open tonight in Collinsville with every indication that the best method to pick a winner would be to wait until the champion is crowned Friday night.

Although Collinsville's Kahoks bring the best record of any team into their own gym and are seeded first, those who have followed the crop of entries closely this season feel that several are capable of pulling an upset in a tournament which is not expected to get started until just that.

Kahok Coach Virgil Fletcher admits that his ballclub "has gone state in recent weeks," but there are several "spoilers," chief among which is Edwardsville. Several could conceivably copy the title and move to the East St. Louis sectional next week.

First Game At 6:45
Tonight's first season at 6:45 matches the Kahoks and eighth-seeded Roxana, and it would be an upset indeed if the Shells come out on top, Collinsville.

GCHS Grapplers Score Only 2 Points At State Tourney; Brewer In Quarterfinals

Granite City's wrestling Warriors scored only two points in the state mat tourney at Champaign Friday and Saturday as four of the five local grapplers lost in their first bouts. East Leydon, which had eight representatives in the meet, won the tourney with 59 points. Pekin was second and Waukegan third. Dave Brewer was the only Warrior to get any team points. He pinned James Sedlack of Chicago Hirsch in the first round. In the quarterfinals, Brewer was eliminated by Joe Mielek of East Leydon in an overtime match. The score was 7-5.

Brewer's victory was his 24th of the season and the 17th pin, a new all-time Granite City pin record for one season.

The only representative of the Granite City Wrestling Club at the state was Larry Kristoff of Carbondale Community. Kristoff, who defeated Granite City's Bill Riddings in the sectional final here, went all the way to the finals at Champaign in the heavyweight class before being defeated 5-4 in overtime on a referee's decision.

Riddings was defeated in the first round by Waukegan's Dan Dick, Roger Bloodworth was beaten by Jerry Torrance of Thornton of Harvey. Ernie Taylor was eliminated by Bob Plaske of Oswego; and Buddy Felchlin was beaten by Jim Fung of Niles.

Felchlin, in the 112-pound class, had possibly the best chance. He had his opponent in a near-pinning situation when the Niles wrestler suffered a momentary injury and the bout was stopped. After it resumed, Felchlin went down to defeat, 10-5.

Biggest surprise of the tourney was the team performance of Pekin. The Chinks finished a week second behind Granite City in the Normal holding tournament as the Warriors walked away with the meet. In the state meet, Pekin had three wrestlers in the final round.

Maroons Top Madison In Overtime Friday, 64-61

Gunther Keiter's field goal with 12 seconds left in an overtime period, gave Belleville's Maroons a 64-61 win over Madison Friday night on the winners' court.

The loss was a heartbreaker for the Trojans, who had battled back from a five-point deficit after three quarters of play to tie the score at 57-57 at the end of regulation play.

Wright's game plan was one of several "pleasant surprises," according to Madison Coach Charles "Buddy" Mueller, who said the game into overtime when he hit two free throws in the last minute, and they dropped in a quick jumper after Belleville had gone ahead again. His tying shot came with just three seconds left.

"The Maroons used a sinking one defense against the Trojan offense in an effort to stop high-scoring Ed Walker, who got his shots nevertheless, but hit only three of 13 tries and ended up with 13 points.

"The rest of the boys came through well from outside," Mueller observed, "and I don't think Ed will have another night like this one in the regional."

Guard Ken Griggs topped Madison with 16 points. Wright had 15 and Lemmon Smith 14. Frank Hilde scored one point. "They gave the rest of the boys the floor," the Madison mentor said, "and their shooting was a pleasant surprise. Keiter got the basket that won the game, but I feel that (Frank) Synek was the boy who actually bested us."

Synek is a rough court underhand, and led the Maroons with 27 points. Mel Patton, Belleville's leading scorer, had not completely recovered from an injury suffered two weeks ago and managed only 23 points.

The Trojans were doomed from the beginning - at least those in the stands who were superstitious felt that way. Madison scored 13 points in each of the first three quarters, trailing 28-28 at halftime.

Madison's JV squad finished the season with an 18-4 mark, losing to Belleville 59-71 despite Ed Young's 17 points.

Records Fall As Modern Exterminators Win Classic Crown; Spengler Oil 2nd

Records fell like tall timber under a lumberjack's ax Thursday night as the Modern Exterminators wrapped up their second consecutive title in park district Classic league basketball play.

The Exterminators downed the Teachers 112-101 to salt away the championship after second-place Spengler Oil won an exciting overtime duel from surprisingly strong Friedman's of Madison, 77-75.

The action, fitting climax to the regular season, took place on the Coolidge junior high school court.

Rams Win 4th District Title, Meet Edwardsville Tonight In Regional

Lincoln of Venice will play Edwardsville at 9 o'clock tonight in the first round of the Collinsville regional tournament. The Rams advanced to the regional by beating Marquette of Alton 76-71 in the third district title game Friday night with the help of free throws and a key basket by Robert Felton.

Lincoln gained the title game berth by topping the host school Thursday 61-45, and Marquette advanced with a victory over Venice. The Rams have won the district four straight times.

The only mad part about Felton's performance is that it was his last as a Lincoln player. The forward, currently averaging over 10 points a game, became 18 Sunday and will be ineligible from now on.

"I guess I'll have to go with Charles Hatter to replace Robert Felton," Stan Lynch, Lincoln coach, said after the game. "Hatter has seen the most action of any of our reserves and is pretty aggressive."

The Rams were coasting along in the usual fashion with hot shooting, ball stealing and aggressive play, and had built up a 61-43 lead with slightly over six minutes to play when suddenly Marquette became hot at the same time Lincoln went cold.

The Explorers connected on 13 of 16 shots in the final quarter and, with the help of a press, which finally began to pay, almost upset the Rams. Lincoln had trouble getting a basket and was in serious danger of completely falling apart after several had passed out.

Felton came through with his key tip-in with 1:30 left in the contest.

Although the Rams failed to connect again from the field and Marquette seemed to be hot, the Rams' basket seemed to settle his teammates and they made no more bad passes.

The closest Marquette came was when Ed Benekite hit on a short jumper with 38 seconds left to narrow the gap to three points, 70-67. But Marquette's press began to backfire at that point and Lincoln's Explorers marched to the free throw line four times in the last 20 seconds.

The Rams won the game, 76-71, in the final quarter, winning 76-71.

Clarence Hand closed out his prep career with a 32-point effort, giving him a total of 851 points this season for the Devils. Also appearing in his final game were seniors Woody Moore, who collected 12 points, Fred Konje Wyatt, who had five.

The game started slowly, and the score was tied 12-12 after one quarter. Shooting an even 50-50 from the field, the Devils opened up a slim 34-30 halftime lead and had stretched it to 48-34 after three quarters of play.

The lead vanished in the fourth period as the Alton school staged a determined rally and then continued its hot streak into the overtime. The Explorers were "blown out" from the field themselves, hitting 25 of 52 shots for 48%.

Old Al Free Throw Line
The Devils had several opportunities to ice the game in regulation time by the free throw line, but had a below-par evening, hitting only 19 of 33 chances while Marquette made 28 of 28 of 35. The Explorers also outscored Venice, 24-22. Hand, who maintained a 60-2 shooting average most of the season, used it by making good on 11 of 13 field goal attempts. Other Venice scorers: Larry Gray 8, John Corrie 8, John Koelker 4, Don Devany, 2.

Warriors, Orioles Win Park Boys' Titles Saturday

The Warriors, Eastern division representatives, grabbed the park district Junior league basketball championship Saturday morning, and the Orioles, who became the champions of the Midget league the same day in playoff games at Namooki school.

The Warriors wallpiped the Colts, Northern division winners, 25-2 in the finals after taking a 23-12 decision from the Celtics in first-round play. The Colts had advanced by defeating the Pirates of the Southern division 19-6.

The Midget league champions defeated the Cardinals 11-4 for the league title, with Ormley Dun scoring 10 of the Orioles' 11 points. Top scorer for the Warriors in the title game of the Junior finals was Joe Hauptmann with seven points.

The park district's boys' basketball program will close Saturday with a city-wide free throw contest at the park district Community Center at 9 a.m. Awards will be given for first, second and third place in each age group.

Ohanesian-Astorian Nuptials At St. Gregory Church

Miss Sonya Karen Astorian became the bride of Emmanuel A. Ohanesian Sunday afternoon at St. Gregory The Illuminator Armenian Apostolic Church, Granite City.

Rev. Gorum Shrikian performed the ceremony at three o'clock before the altar decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and woodwardia and illuminated with candles in branched candelabra.

The dresses, floor-length, were of soft finished nylon sheer with draped bodices and skirts. Matching hats and short tulle veils completed the costumes and all three held nosegays of carnations, light pink for the matron of honor and a deeper shade for the bridesmaids.

Two little flower girls, Daria St. Ivany and Narcisse Bogosian, wore floor-length dresses with ruffled skirts and matching pink headpieces and carried French baskets filled with pink and white daisies. Ahazd Bogosian carried the rings.

The bridegroom's attendants were Sarkis Bogosian, brother-in-law of the bride, best man, and Edward Torgian and Ralph Astorian, a brother of the bride, groomsmen. The guests were seated by Robert Astorian and Edward Astorian, also brothers of the bride.

Wayne avenue, took place Saturday evening at Concordia Lutheran Church, 23rd street and Grand avenue.

Rev. Arvin Twietmeyer officiated at 8 o'clock in a setting of gladness, pom poms, palms and ferns. Light was furnished by burning candles in candelabra.
Following the service H. A.
Amelung sang the Lord's Prayer and "Whither Thou Goest," with organ accompaniment by
P. of Aris Eilen, who played the wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Roy Walker, wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace over satin. Simply made, it was designed with a round colloped neckline and short sleeves.

Ties upon tier of lace formed the skirt which ended in a brief train, and a fingertip veil of tulle was attached to a crown of pearls. The bridal bouquet was a crescent of stephanotis and feathered carnations.

Mrs. Marilyn Caton, matron of honor, and bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Walker, the bride's cousin, and Miss Linda Lester dressed alike in ballerina-length gowns in shades of raspberry organza over taffeta, held crescent shaped bouquets of light pink carnations and pom poms combined with net and ribbon.

Lester Caton served as best man for Mr. Beedle, and groom-smen and ushers were William Kozayak, William Patton, Gene
Casey and Gene Miller.

The bride's mother wore a beige and brown silk costume

World Day Of Prayer To Be Observed Here On Friday

The 74th World Day of Prayer will be observed the first Friday in Lent, March 4, at 7:30 p.m. at Central Christian Church on Johnson road. Mrs. Allan Hackett of Pilgrim Congregational Church in St. Louis is to be the speaker at this year's meeting.

The observance will begin in the Tonga Islands just west of the international date line and will not cease until the whole globe has been encircled and the final prayers are offered on the St. Lawrence Island in the Bering Sea. For 24 hours thousands upon thousands of Christians around the world will be united in a service of prayer and thanksgiving in 60 languages and 1000 dialects in 145 countries on six continents.

The purpose of the Day of Prayer is to unite all Christians in a bond of prayer, to pray for all peoples of the world and to make an offering for Christian missions at home and abroad.

Each year the service comes from a different country. This year Mrs. Nellie Jacobson of Abousat in British Columbia,
Can., has written it. She is well known for her preservation of the art of making nootka baskets.

In the United States the day is sponsored by the United Cities the United Council of Church Women has appointed a committee composed of women of participating churches who are cooperating with the chairman, Mrs. Margaret Branding

Support, Criticism For Army Housing Project

Two congressmen differed Friday over a $916,136 Engineer Depot 50-unit housing project which was the subject of a House Operations subcommittee hearing. Rep. Clare D. Hoffman (R) of Michigan introduced a General Accounting Office report, commenting that the 1956 housing bill was "a case of a transfer of some cost items was 'only a paper transaction'."

William L. Dawson (D) of Illinois accused the Army Corps of Engineers of "evasiveness and smugness." William A. Newman Jr., GAO defense accounting and auditing director, testified that the corps failed to comply with a statute requiring a report to Congress and the president whenever a cost limitation set by Congress is exceeded, but he agreed with Maj. Gen. W. K. Wilson Jr. that there have been no violations of criminal laws.

Gen. Wilson, deputy chief of engineers for construction, attributed the incident to "poor judgment and abuse of discretion" by military officials. He said that the final contract price was $76,530 below the government's $1,008,196 estimate, and said the cost for the work was "fair and reasonable."

He acknowledged that the cost was $10,418 higher than the lowest initial bid, but pointed out that all original bids had been pulled and the same firms were participating in the second bidding. Discussing shifting of about $250,000 of items that were limited in cost to phases not subject to limitation, he said all bidding firms were instructed to do this and that the same contractor, C. H. Sternberg, was low both times.

The subcommittee on executive and legislative reorganization plans to discuss the matter in closed session to decide on its next step.

Two Children Bitten

Two bites by animals were reported to Granite City police Saturday. The children involved were Charles Reed, eight, bitten by a cat, and Leroy Wellborn, 15, of 2804 Dale avenue, bitten by a dog. Treatment was arranged, and the city humane officer was notified.

Spot Zoning Can Nullify Benefits Of Zoning Law, Endanger Property Values

It would be well for local officials to think twice before approving zoning changes of the type suggested at the last city council meeting. There is a need for caution, because "spot zoning" can do great harm to property values.

Zoning certainly is not intended as a strait-jacket to hamper growth, but at the other extreme, extensive "spot zoning" can make the zoning regulations meaningless.

An example is the case cited at the council meeting. A majority of property owners in an entire residential area, but households living immediately adjacent to the proposed commercial site are opposed to the plan. Their opinions should be considered carefully; after all, who would be most affected by the zoning change than the people living close to it? Who has a greater right to an opinion, one way or the other, on the proper use of the property?

Zoning laws are adopted to improve livability, guard property values and encourage expansion. This encouragement is given through the assurance that areas will be developed on the basis of the greatest good for the greatest number. Such security can be nullified and zoning benefits destroyed when lobbying for changes is successful on a widespread scale such as in St. Louis after the city plan.

The City Plan Commission has rejected the current proposal involving the Glenview area, and one of the commissioners is invited to explain the reasons for the rejection. When this is done, the proposal to circumvent the zoning law and commission should get a long, hard look from council members. Above all, the decision should be based, not on pressure from any of the parties, but on the basis of the pertinent facts.

Looting Of Parked Autos Here Is Becoming Serious Problem

Looting of parked automobiles and thefts of wheel hubs are occurring here so frequently that they are becoming major problems, even though the value of individual losses is comparatively minor.

Just as our society is built on observance of the law, property rights are sacred. Flouting of the law in this manner cannot be viewed as a childish prank but as a serious offense warranting stern prosecution.

Motorists can help reduce the number of thefts by always locking their cars, leaving no packages or valuables inside the vehicles and turning their hubcaps so they can be identified. With police placing more stress on the mounting list of thefts involving cars, and auto owners giving thieves less opportunity, perhaps the current trend can be reversed.

The board, headed by President Samuel L. Meyer, will meet at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Rios restaurant for a regular session.

Also to meet tomorrow is the C. of C. Congressional Action committee headed by Richard Bromley, chairman. The committee will meet at 4:30 p.m. at the Rios.

Open House Will Show Numerous Activities Conducted By YMCA

The open house to be held at the YMCA tonight, with its varied schedule of events and demonstrations, will reveal the many sides of the activity program conducted by the "Y" throughout the year.

The YMCA regularly offers swimming, judo, basketball, acrobatic tumbling, skin diving, lifesaving, aquatics, dancing, physical fitness and body building, youth citizenship programs, teenage recreation and dancing, gymnasium activities and Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y club meetings. One of the busiest buildings in the Quad-Cities, the YMCA is this community's chief center of recreational activity for both youth and adults.

The open house this evening can be doubly rewarding to families touring the building. They can become more fully informed on how the YMCA is serving the community, and they also probably will see portions of the program in which they will want to begin participating.

The only reason the rich pay taxes is because the paupers can't.

Wonders Talk For Granted Here

Enchant Visitors From Foreign Lands

Striving for "the good life" and seeking constant improvement in the standard of living are goals that speak well for each individual's initiative and desire to provide for his family. But how often do we "take things for granted" and fail to enjoy or appreciate the comforts and advantages that our diligent efforts have earned?

Kitchen appliances, basement recreation rooms and spacious, well-built homes are accepted as commonplace by many Quad-Cities. But visits to typical homes of local industrial employees last week surprised and enchanted live students from Ecuador and Costa Rica. In viewing such phases of modern civilization, they learned first-hand that living standards in their countries would have to rise considerably in order to meet that of the United States.

This stage in history is certainly no place to sit back, stop trying and adopt an attitude of self-satisfaction. Continued striving is one of the ways to make life worthwhile and meaningful, and can be rewarded by further goals.

It is perhaps if we could look at our already-won gains through the eyes of a Costa Rican or someone else not used to them, these accomplishments would seem a little less jaded and a little more attractive and pleasing to us. There is really a wonderful world, in case anyone has not taken stock of it lately.

If you don't believe anything, there's no law to make you believe it.

Quad-Cities Visited By Many Leaders Of National State

The Quad-Cities were honored last week with the appearance of not one, but two dignitaries of national stature.

In addition, to United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald, who expressed the hope that labor-management spirit prevailing here will spread to the remainder of the country, this community was visited by Nicholas A. Wheeler, American president of Optimist International. The club official's message of serving the community and setting examples of hope and faith was heard by Rotary and Kiwanis members as well as Optimists.

Other officials and national figures visiting the Quad-Cities in recent years have included President Harry Truman, Adlai Stevenson, Gov. William G. Strickland, Oregon Governor Wayne Morse, president of Optimist International, the late Deputy Defense Secretary Donald Quarles, Under-Secretary of Labor Arthur Larson, top officials of the Dow Chemical Co., A. O. Smith Corp., and other industries, and leading military commanders.

Located as it is in the heart of the nation and ranking as one of the country's key industrial centers, this area is becoming a crossroads for national leaders. Such appearances have added to local residents' information on many vital topics and have increased their influence on the course of events in some of these fields.

Local Sailors Take Part In Naval Exercise

Kenneth D. Phillips, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil R. Phillips of 2908 Marshall avenue, and Joseph L. Smith, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith of 2813 Harvard avenue, serving aboard the destroyer USS Bussell, took part in a recent large-scale exercise off the coast of Southern California.

Purpose of the operation, under control of the commander, U.S. First Fleet, was to keep American sea power in a state of readiness. The exercise pitted "Purple" aggressor forces, supposedly deployed from an overseas base, against "Blue" defender forces.

Committee Meeting

The Industrial Development committee of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce will meet at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the C. of C. office according to an announcement by the co-chairmen, W. F. Hoelscher and Harold R. Fischer.

LEARN BY WRITING TO SENATOR

Dear Mr. Editor: I received today from my Senator, in regard to the income tax Missouri is imposing on the people of Illinois.

I do believe if more people would write to either of our Senators or Representatives in Washington making something can be done to stop this unlawful law and hurry it up.

It's a bad state of affairs when states as big as New York and Missouri have to cross state lines to collect taxes from people when they have no voice or say.

That is why I believe they are making a big issue of residences more so than residents of Missouri.

I thought it public interest in making it to be published in your newspaper.

I am a Lithograph pressman and live in Granite City, Illinois and there are no jobs to be had, why I have to work in Missouri.

If you think it is of public interest please publish.

I would like to have this letter from Senator Dirksen back but if you want to keep it, OK with me.

Very Truly Yours, WALDO L. WRIGHT, 2801 Benton, Granite City, Ill.

The problem presented in your recent communication has been rather thoroughly ventilated in Congress in view of an identical problem which developed between New York on the one hand and Massachusetts, New Jersey and Connecticut on the other.

A great deal of testimony was taken on the constitutional problem to protect the citizens of Maine from the imposition of taxes by another under certain circumstances, and certain resolutions are presently pending before the United States Congress. I thought that before now the committee would report on the matter.

The issue is of very considerable concern and I was present when most of the testimony was taken. I can assure you it is having attention and I am glad to have your expression of interest in this matter.

Sincerely, EVERETT M. DIRKSEN.

INTEREST IN MAYORS' PRESIDENTIAL GROUP

To The Forum of the Granite City Press-Record: Sir:

Here we are with something most of which we are wrestling with for some time.

Twice within the past week we had the rare privilege to see the Hon. Mayor of Granite City, David interviewed on our local television channels.

Needless to say that it impressed me deeply and made me proud of our dear old Granite City, since it is an indication that Granite City has grown up.

But, his appearance on Channel 2 was a mistake we believe since it appeared to us that an officer or member of the S.I.C.L. would have been in a better position to talk on the subject in question, than Mr. Davis and furthermore Mr. Davis would not be prepared to be interviewed on the newly-organized "Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors." Since Mr. Davis, according to the Press-Record had promised to explain

Children's Group To Receive Car This Week

The Association for Aid to Retarded Children should be able to use its new station wagon this week, a spokesman for the Twilight Optimist Club said.

Title, insurance and license classification arrangements now are being completed so the group can use the car to take children to school and recreational spots.

The Optimist Club spokesman said the car is a 1948 model, legal rights as far as taxes and license fees are concerned.

The Optimist club bought the station wagon from its youth activities fund. In previous years the club has sent boys to summer camp as well as carry out other youth projects.

The vehicle is a 1954 model "carry-all." It differs from the regular station wagon in that the back door swings out like regular doors instead of down as in a regular station wagon. This is to provide easier entry for the children.

Wilbur R. L. Trimpe, Madison county superintendent, will open the festival with an address. The program is part of the Teachers' Institute which is being held the same day.

The city's music director, Walter Mathia, believes very strongly in democratic free bridges. We also believe that the so-called elite have every right to use every legal means to fight the construction of so great a competition. But, we would strenuously object if our rights and privileges of petition would be misused for the benefit of a few.

We may be all wet in our assumption and hope that this new organization is for the benefit of all the people in the two counties but repeat "We hear suppose." The cities owning the bridges are managed by shrewd politicians, they are no dummies to be sure.

Granite City Grows As. . .

A NEW LANDMARK COMES TO LIFE

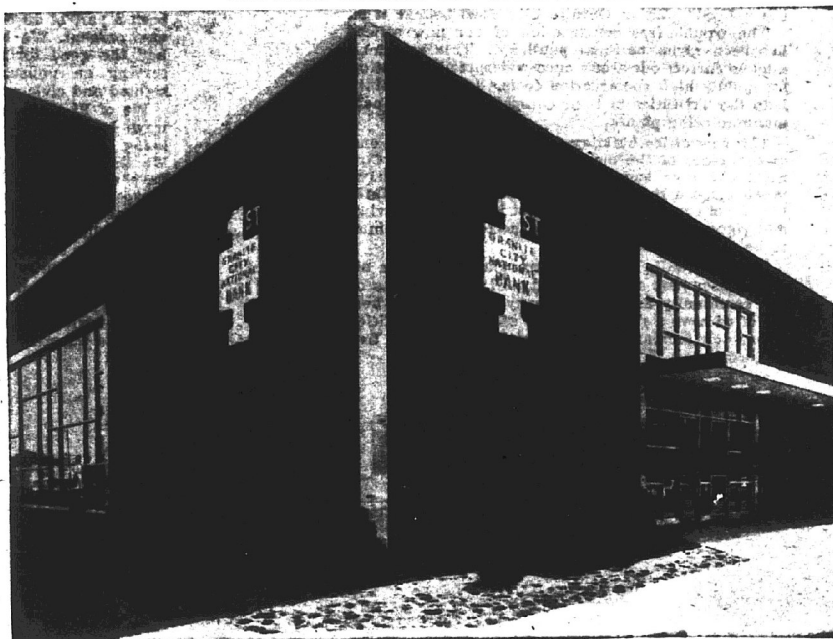

A Tribute . . .

Over the past several months Tri-Citians have seen a new landmark taking shape in downtown Granite City. Today, it is a reality—the five-story Granite City Steel Building and the connecting First Granite City National Bank, which together form a unit flanked by State Street, 20th Street, and Edison Avenue. As a tribute to these two business citizens of our community, to give our readers a view of this splendid addition to the area, and to review some of the interesting details about the steel company and the city's first and oldest bank, this special section is presented in the PRESS-RECORD.

THE GRANITE CITY STEEL BUILDING

THE FIRST GRANITE CITY NATIONAL BANK

To Our Friends and Neighbors:

By NICHOLAS P. VEEDER

Chairman of The Board and President
GRANITE CITY STEEL COMPANY

Today is our first working day in Granite City Steel's new main office building in downtown Granite City, and everyone who moved in this morning is glad to be here. In that respect, building an office is much like building a home. Once the job is started, you are anxious for it to be over so you can take possession. In addition, the move relieves a shortage of in-plant office space that had become acute.

Those of us on the upper floors have already discovered we can see more of the plant from here than from the old building at Twentieth and Madison. The seven open hearth furnace stacks, for example, are not cut off from view as they were in the other building.

The view is nice and so is the fact we have more room to work in. However, the real purpose of this building was a more functional one. We hope it will enable us to operate administrative and staff services with greater efficiency, and provide customers with faster, more convenient service.

I want to again mention the key role played in this project by the 1958 agreement between local building unions and contractors to shave unnecessary labor costs and eliminate jurisdictional strikes. Without that agreement, we would not be moving in today. From our experience on this and other construction projects since 1958, we have been impressed with how carefully everyone concerned is living up to the terms of the agreement.

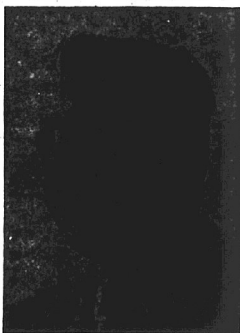

When Secretary of Labor Mitchell spoke at the "All America City" award dinner a year ago, he called the 1958 agreement "a lesson to the rest of the nation." We at Granite City Steel believe it is.

The trouble-free construction of our new offices has been given national publicity. This has done a lot to correct our area's once-widespread reputation for unduly high construction costs. It will certainly help the Tri-Cities in their campaign to attract new manufacturing plants.

The new office building was completed at the end of ten years of the most rapid growth Granite City Steel has ever had. This growth would not have taken place if the Tri-City area, where most Granite City Steel employees live, had not itself been thriving and vigorous and had we not expected it to continue to be progressive.

We at Granite City Steel are glad to become an even closer part of Granite City, Ill. The futures of the community and the company are tied together. All of us have a real interest in seeing the Tri-Cities become an increasingly better place in which to live and work.

Nicholas P. Veeder

By HAROLD R. FISCHER

President
FIRST GRANITE CITY NATIONAL BANK

Just a few short years ago—in 1952, to be exact—the First Granite City National Bank observed its fiftieth anniversary.

It was a time for looking back with pride and satisfaction and a time for looking ahead with confident hope. On that occasion we rededicated ourselves to the future . . . to the continued promotion of commercial, industrial, agricultural and residential growth of our community.

Today, that confident hope for the future has been realized in the form of the magnificent new building which we share with the Granite City Steel Company. Its beauty, its countless modern conveniences for you, our friends and customers, and for our own First Bank family, alone make it something of which to be tremendously proud. It can be said without immodesty that it is one of the finest banking facilities in the Midwest.

HAROLD R. FISCHER

To the First Granite City National Bank, the new building represents one of the most significant milestones in our long history. As we serve our third generation of customers, we look upon it as a bright new symbol of our rapid growth, particularly in the postwar years. The measure of that growth is perhaps best exemplified by the statistical fact that in 1942 we had deposits of $4 million and a staff numbering only 12 people, whereas today deposits are around the $30 million mark, and our new building will house a group of 75 employees.

But more importantly, this building is a reflection of the outstanding vigor, stability, and potential of our community. We have grown because we have been a part of an economically healthy and growing environment. We have prospered because we have had the good fortune to exist for the purpose of serving an unusually energetic, industrious, far-sighted and civic-minded citizenry.

We of First Granite City National Bank have always bent our every effort and capability toward being a fully responsible citizen of our community. We shall continue to do so, gladly and proudly. We have a business stake, of course, in the continued prosperity of our area, but at the same time, and just as strongly, we have an abiding emotional interest in furthering its full maturity.

In a very real sense, our new quarters are a reaffirmation of our faith in the future of our community, and specifically in the immediate downtown area. We feel that this new structure can and will serve to help revitalize and anchor the downtown area as the main business section of our community.

From Brass Latch, to Electric Eye—

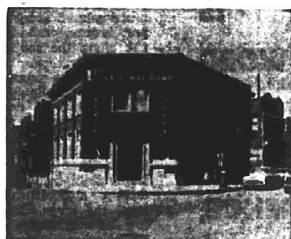

A Bank And A City Grow Together

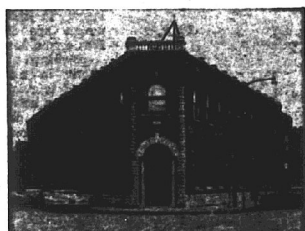

In 1902 the bank's corner, with Park Avenue Church, now Niedringhaus Memorial Methodist Church, in background.

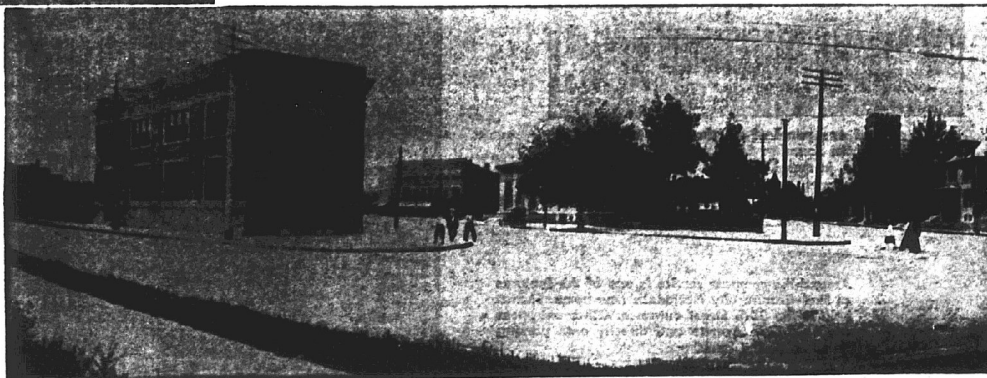

The bank's first home, at 19th and Delmar, known as the Priest Property . . . now Fleischman's Men's Store.

Completed in 1917, bank's most recent home, at Edison and Niedringhaus, was bank's quarters until 1931.

In 1931, the bank moved into First National Bank Building (above), at Niedringhaus and Cleveland, following consolidation, remained until 1942, when it returned to most recent home. At right, the latter as it looked in early years.

A few days ago, the marvel of electronics swung open to the public for the first time the steel-framed glass doors of the new First Granite City National Bank.

The action of the "electric eyes" bridged almost to the day a span of 57 years from the opening of the bank's first door . . . glass-paned and wood, with a brass thumb latch and handle.

But First Granite City National's story really began a few years before the first depositor thumbed that brass latch for the first time.

Back in the early 1890's the area we now know as Granite City was nothing but farm land, lolling in the sun, bathing in the rain, going about the slow and easy task of supplying the wants of man and animal. There was no Indian Village, no trading post, no pioneer river station to grow into a bustling city.

It was remote from the smoke-belching traffic of the busy river packers plying their trade up and down the Mississippi. It lay virtually untouched by the industrial activity and economic growth taking place on the western banks of the river.

Then came the building of the Merchants Bridge, and the east and west banks of the river were as one. Quickly followed the workmen, building a number of plants, among them the ancestor of today's Granite City Steel Company.

The industries spawned by the bridge laid out streets, supplied a water system, built houses, and Granite City . . . incorporated in March, 1896 . . . grew rapidly.

As business thrived and the new city's population grew the need for a local bank to serve as a center for financial activities became more acute.

To fill this need . . . George W. Niedringhaus, superintendent of the National Enameling and Stamping Company, together with other leaders of the young community, founded the Granite City National Bank. Its charter was granted on December 30, 1902, and it opened its doors for the first time on January 17, 1903, with total resources of $75,768.45.

With the continued development of the area's industrial potential and ever-expanding population, it became apparent within a few years that the first bank building, at 19th and Delmar, would have to give way to newer and bigger quarters.

Looking well into the future, the bank's directors selected the corner of Edison and Niedringhaus Avenues, and in July, 1917, the new bank building went into service of the community. The foresight of the directors in choosing the location was borne out as time went by. Additional buildings went up . . . among them the City Hall and Y. M. C. A. . . . replacing the tufts of grass and open spaces on which cows were wont to graze and making of the Edison-Niedringhaus 20th Street intersection the hub of downtown Granite City.

In 1931, the bank's management took another step to provide for the community a stronger and larger financial institution. It effected a consolidation with the First National Bank of Granite City, moved into the latter's building at Niedringhaus and Cleveland Avenues and continued business as The First Granite City National Bank, with combined deposits of more than $3 million.

Once again, as the Granite City trade area continued to grow and the volume of banking needs increased, First Granite City National felt the need for more expansive, modernized quarters. Following a complete refurbishing of its former quarters at Edison and Niedringhaus Avenues, the bank moved back to its previous home in 1942.

There it has remained, but never really standing still. Through the years, the bank has continued a pattern of keeping pace with the needs and desires of its community—installing air conditioning, expanding to the second floor within its own building to make room for improved lobby facilities, providing sidewalk teller service, drive-in banking, increased parking, many new departments and additional special services.

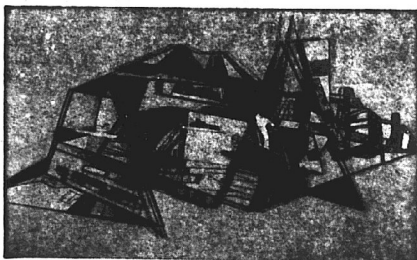

Now, First Granite City National Bank has moved again, this time into the most modern of new homes—one which incorporates features that few banks in the country have, one that is planned for the banking needs of tomorrow as well as today, and one that promises to give the people, businesses, and industries of the Tri-Cities community the finest in banking facilities for years to come.

View of main lobby, looking toward Edison Avenue. Behind marble tellers' cages can be seen the three-part mural depicting the flourishing Tri-Cities economy that has helped First Granite City National to grow.

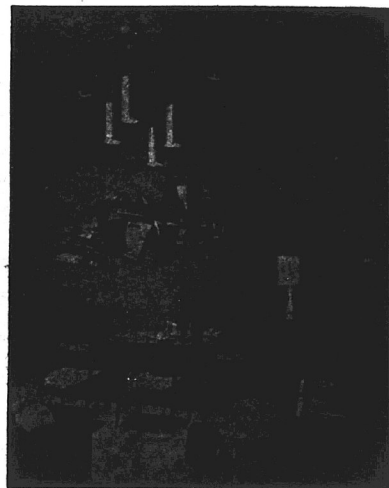

Comfort of customers is designed into this attractive lounge area, just inside the 20th Street entrance to the bank, and just off the main lobby.

Around-the-compass service is one of the features of First Granite City National's new home. Shown here is the 20th Street entrance. Other entrances are on Edison Avenue and directly onto parking lot south of the bank.

NEW BANK IS LAST WORD IN COMFORT, CONVENIENCE, FACILITIES

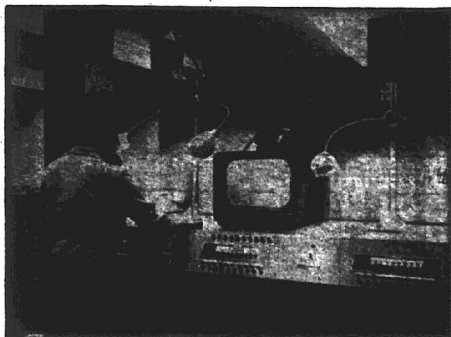

One of the first things that catches the eye in the new First Granite City National Bank building is a huge three-piece mural which splashes its multi-colored story in steel, copper, bronze, ceramic and mosaic tile along the south wall of the main lobby.

This unique mural, done by St. Louis artist Saunders Schultz characterizes in dramatic relief the past, present, and future of First Granite City National and the Tri-Cities community. For in its three parts are depicted impressionistically the steel industry, agriculture, transportation, the river, the home-building industry, and the heavy construction industry — the backbone of a vigorous, growing economy.

In the mural's ultra-modern tone lies a reflection, too, of the many features which are the latest in modern banking and which are First Granite City National's new home.

Destined to be the most talked-about in all probability is a closed television circuit . . . one of only a handful in use by banks across the country and believed to be the only one in the Midwest outside of Chicago.

Master unit of the 12-station closed-circuit television is located in central file area in bank's lower level. Operator is filling teller's telephoned request by placing customer balance sheet under one of two transmitting cameras.

A receiving station of the closed-circuit TV system, shown in use by a drive-in teller, who has stepped out of cage to check file shown on screen.

Through its 12 stations, all tellers and personnel in other departments requiring quick reference to files can verify customer balances and signatures in a fraction of the time consumed by the walk-to-the-files method. They have merely to lift a direct-connection telephone, relay the information required to the central file room, where the TV transmitting cameras and the latest in electronic filing equipment are located, and in a matter of seconds the information is pictured on the TV screen before them.

The closed circuit television system enables virtually all files to be located in a large central area in the new building's lower level, making for greater spaciousness throughout the lobby and other customer service areas, greater attractiveness, as well as more efficient, faster handling of customers' business.

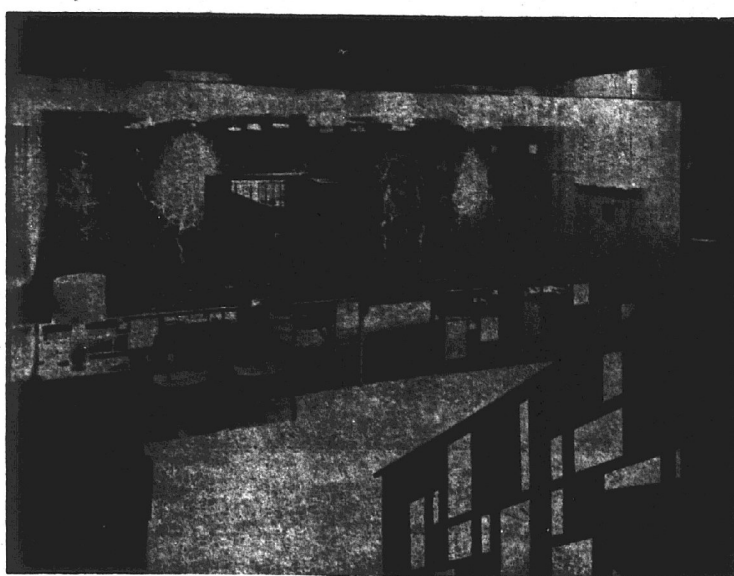

Spaciousness is a key facet of the new First Granite City National. The 11,000-square-foot of floor space in each of its two levels represents the equivalent of the combined floor space of approximately 10 average new homes, or a total of 20 such homes. Additionally, the structure has been tailored to allow for easy construction of a second floor above street level should future growth require it.

Customer comfort and convenience are coupled with spaciousness in the bank's new home. Electric-eye doors, an automatic elevator connecting the safety deposit vault on the lower level with the main lobby, modernly furnished lounge areas in the main lobby and in the safety deposit department typify the manner in which the customer has been designed into the new bank.

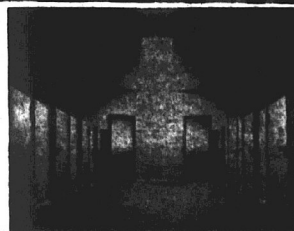

The expansion of services provided by the new First Granite City National is illustrated by the 100 per cent increase in the number of tellers. In the new building, there are 22 tellers at work — 12 commercial and savings, three loan, three sidewalk and four drive-in tellers. Provision has been made in construction for the ready addition of two drive-in windows and another sidewalk station.

Also greatly increased is the bank's safety deposit facilities. There are 2,600 boxes in the new building as compared with 1,100 in the home the bank just left. Eleven private booths and two conference rooms are available to customers in the new Marble-walled Safe Deposit Department lounge and attendant area, with vault in background. Both stairway and automatic elevator serve this department from lobby.

Private booths and two telephone-equipped conference rooms, adjacent to vault area in bank's lower level, provide privacy, comfort, and convenience for Safe Deposit Department customers.

safety deposit area. There were three booths and no conference rooms in the previous location.

An unusual aspect of the new facilities is the location of the drive-in windows in an island structure separated from the main bank building by the 50-car parking lot which serves bank customers. The drive-in service, which incorporates among other innovations an electronic traffic control system, thus is separated from all traffic directed toward business in the main building. A tunnelway under the parking lot connects the main building with the drive-in island, eliminating outdoor movement by bank personnel between the two areas.

"Around the compass and around the clock service" also is a built-in feature of the new bank. It has three entrances at three points of the compass, one on Edison Avenue, one on 20th Street, and the other directly onto the parking lot. Two of the three sidewalk tellers serve 20th Street traffic, the other, Edison Avenue. Night depositories are located adjacent to the 20th Street sidewalk teller station and to the right of the Edison Avenue entrance.

Drive-In Banking entrance from Edison Avenue, with two windows to serve traffic moving through to State Street, is shown at left. Additional two windows are on opposite side of drive-in island, serving traffic from State Street. Island is separated from main bank, in background, by 50-car parking lot.

Drive-In Banking At Its Easiest . . .

A drive-in teller serves a customer. Power-assisted drawers, loudspeaker communication, and other features make First Granite City National's drive-in service as modern as tomorrow.

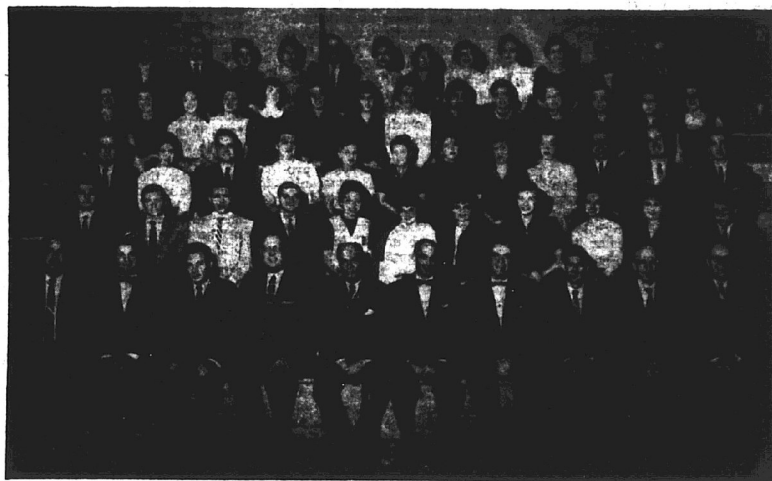

Smartly-outfitted lounge and dining area for bank staff is located in lower level. Stove and sink in background, separated by bellows curtains from main area, along with refrigerator, increase usefulness and convenience of the area.

This map illustrates the convenience of First Granite City National's drive-in banking service. Close to Granite City's main retail section, the drive-in area can be entered from either State or Edison, as indicated by arrows, and without delay from other vehicle activity, customers can be served and readily be headed back in direction from which they came. The traffic flow, as shown in the map, involves no left turns across traffic.

Windows of the employees' cafeteria on the fifth floor of the new Granite City Steel Building afford this dramatic view of the steelworks. The company in 1959 capped its 81-year history, which began in 1878, with record production of 1,308,000 tons of ingot steel and record shipments of 1,126,000 tons of steel products, and looked ahead to continuing expansion during the 1960's.

The company's first office building, was built in 1894. It was at the main gate, then located on 19th st. The same foundation is used today for the plant fire house. The building is shown here during the flood of 1903.

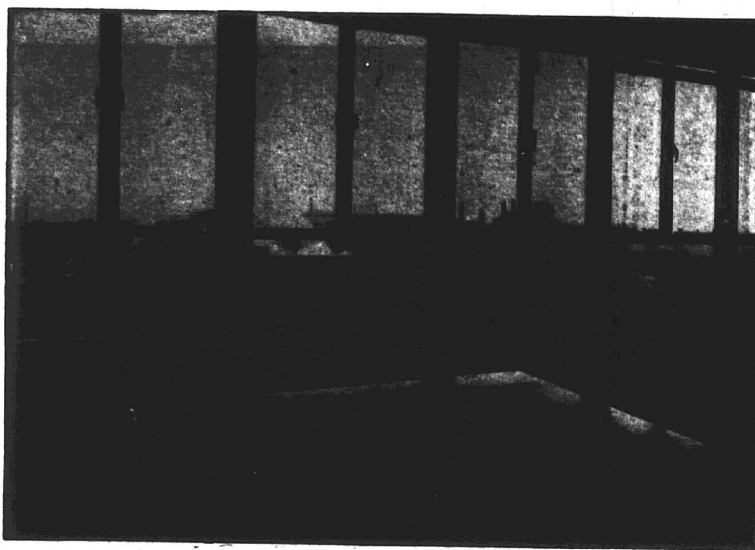

Company equipment of years gone by were the old tin pots at the St. Louis mill, shown here in a magazine illustration of 1892. The mill was said to have ten tinning pots, producing 350 base boxes a day, and to produce a better quality than the English plate of the same quality.

Early-days work crew at the old St. Louis mill which operated a scrap handler . . . used to press loose steel into rectangular bundles of about 150 pounds each, later to be melted in the mill's open hearth furnaces.

Unusual 1919 illustration of the plant was drawn when the St. Louis Coke and Iron Company announced plans to build new coke ovens and blast furnaces nearby. Steel works in foreground were accurately depicted. However, plans were changed, and coke plant was never located east of steel works as shown.

In Thriving Tri-City Area . . .

Granite City Steel— A History Of Growth

Even in the 1890s some businessmen were aware of the advantages this area could provide for industrial plants that located here . . . and that is how the City of Granite City and Granite City Steel got their start.

The company's oldest business "ancestor" was the Granite Iron Rolling Mills, built in 1878 at Second and Destrehan streets in St. Louis to provide sheet iron for use in manufacturing graniteware kitchen utensils.

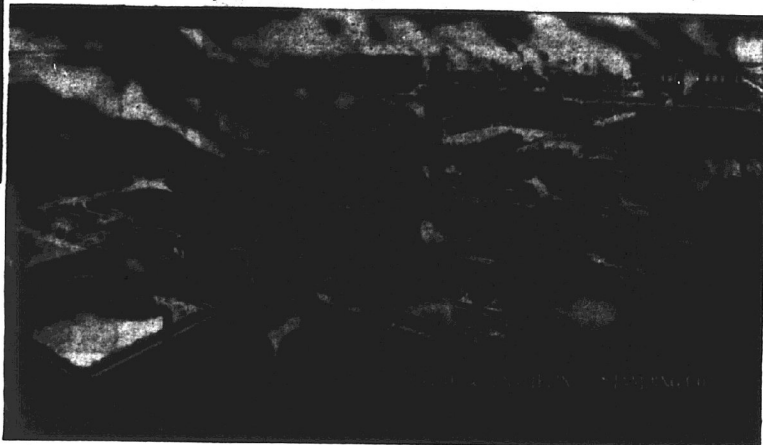

However, a much closer relation to today's Granite City Steel came along 16 years later.

William F. and Frederick G. Niedringhaus, who had established the rolling mill plant in St. Louis, decided the area's industrial future was on the Illinois side of the Mississippi river. The brothers built two plants in what was to become Granite City. Their St. Louis Stamping Company plant went up at the west end of Niedringhaus' avenue, and the Granite City Steel Works on 115 acres in the southeastern part of Granite City—part of today's 550-acre plant area.

A construction crew pauses for picture-taking during work on the company's first open hearth furnace. The year was 1893.

Stainless steel forms a major component of the main lobby of the new Granite City Steel Building, serving as a smooth wall-paneling and as a decorative wuffed paneling around the elevators. This reception area includes a lounge for visitors. The new main offices, together with First Granite City National Bank and a 58-car parking lot, occupy half a city block, at 20th and State Streets, extending 264 feet along Twentieth and 230 feet back from Twentieth between Edison Avenue and State. The entrance is at 20th and State.

Modern, decorated and equipped hallway on fourth floor of the five-story steel company building is the work area for secretaries of the 13 Granite City Steel executives who have offices on this floor.

steel was tapped on August 30, 1895. The City of Granite City was incorporated early the next year. Other industries moved in and by 1900 Granite City's population had grown to 3,122.

The Steel Works grew too, even in its early days. Four new open hearth furnaces and 16 more tin mills were built in 1900, for example. The year before, the Steel Works became a part of the National Enameling and Stamping Company. It remained so until late in 1927 when it was incorporated as a separate, independent company. Its annual steelmaking capacity then was 360,000 tons.

The depression slowed, but did not stop Granite City Steel's growth. During the 1930s, the company accumulated enough cash to install a continuous hot strip mill. It was the smallest flat rolled steel producer in the U. S. to do so—and only in that way was it able to stay in business against its larger competitors.

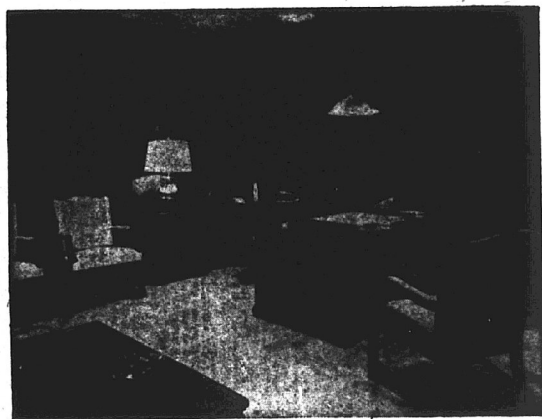

After the war, Granite City Steel began a period of steady growth that is continuing today. This has replaced a once-marginal steel plant with a modern, integrated mill that competes successfully against the largest steel companies in the U. S. Its present annual ingot capacity of 1,440,000 tons makes it the nation's 15th largest steel company.

In the last 10 years, Granite City Steel's employment has risen from 2,960 to approximately 5,000. Its annual payroll (wages, salaries and other benefits) has gone up from $9,886,000 in 1949 to $40,087,000 in 1959. Most of that is spent in the Tri-Cities, where 64% of the company's employees live.

Granite City Steel has become the largest locally-managed company in Madison and St. Clair Counties. Payrolls and purchases have helped stimulate business activity in the Tri-Cities and in other near-by communities. Now the completion of the company's new office building binds it even closer to the community of which it has always been a part.

The company would not have grown as it has if it had not been in the midst of the vigorous, thriving Tri-City area.

Granite City Steel people have long been active in civic and charitable affairs. For example, they helped bring about the unique agreement between contractors and building trades unions that was one of the reasons Granite City won an All America City Award for 1958.

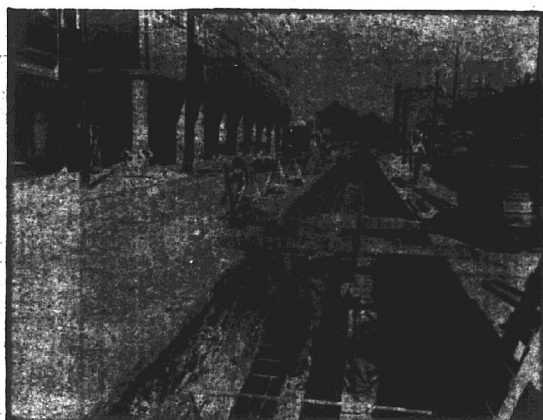

Granite City Steel sponsors four Junior Achievement companies and an Explorer Scout Post. Through its 30-Minute Club, it was among the first to adopt the continuous-giving plan for Tri-City charities. Last year, Granite City Steel's employees contributed $40,000 to the United Fund drive, and the company a like amount. The company helps support such institutions as St. Elizabeth Hospital and the Cahokia Mounds Boy Scout Council, and a variety of employee recreation activities that include bowling, basketball, golf leagues, baseball and softball teams, archery, and gun and glee clubs.

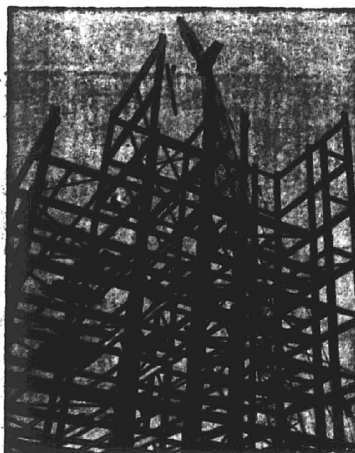

The kitchen from which the fifth-floor employees' cafeteria and the adjoining executive dining room both are served reflects intent of the architect's design, which was to make maximum use of steel construction products.

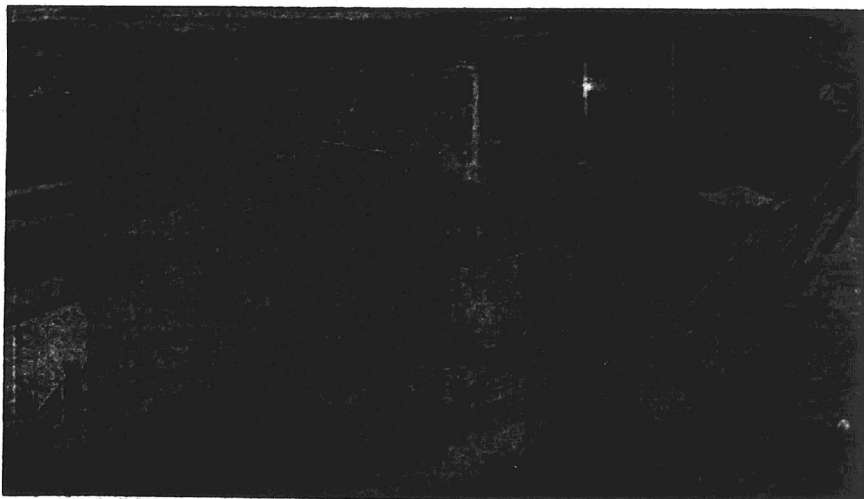

Serving line of the employees' cafeteria, which together with adjoining dining area, will serve for other functions as well as luncheon facility. Some 125 people will be working in the new building.

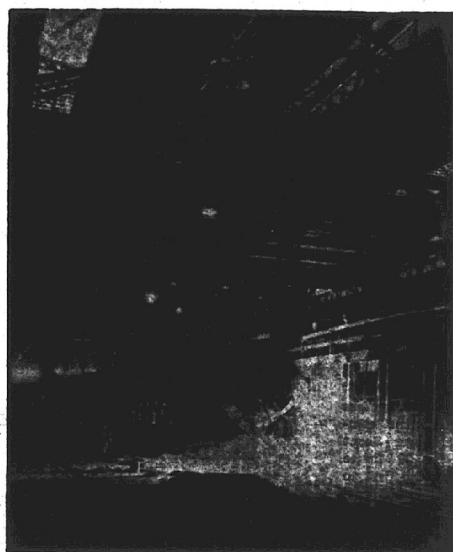

Workmen are shown, during construction, installing under State Street the various pipelines which supply the new building with water, steam heating, electricity, mail and messages. The new structure, extending 203 feet along State, is visible in background. Sixty feet wide, the building has 58,000 square feet of usable floor space.

A crane lifts a steel girder into place during early construction stages, as the upper levels of the new Granite City Steel building began to take shape.

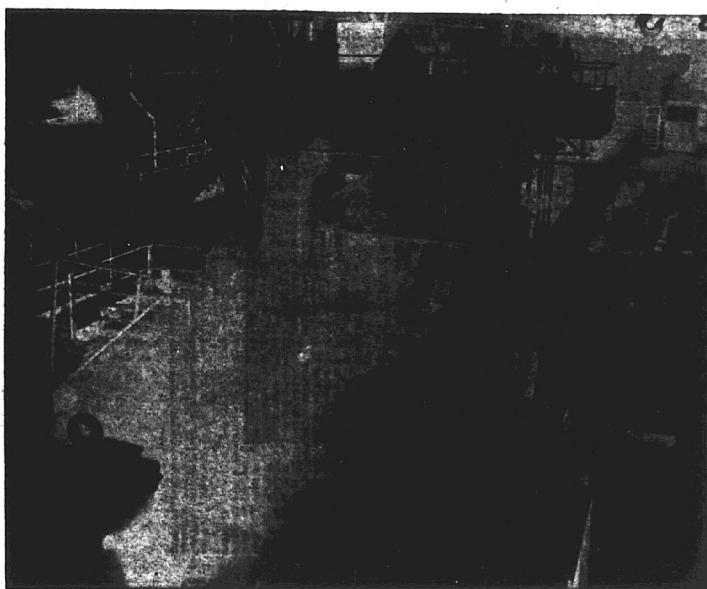

The blast furnace plant shown at left was acquired in 1951 by Granite City Steel, giving it its own source of supply of pig iron, one of the two major raw materials of open hearth steelmaking, and making possible the substantial expansion of production capacity during the 1950's.

Open hearth department, in which one of the seven furnaces is shown above being charged with molten pig iron, has undergone continuing expansion. One furnace was rebuilt in 1959, making it one of the largest in the industry. Another is to be made even larger. Other improvements are under way or planned.

Current expansion includes replacement of one of the company's two blast furnaces. New furnace is shown above being erected near one it will replace. Old furnace will be torn down and the new moved into its place in the same time-saving off-site construction method used to replace company's other blast furnace in 1956. New furnace capacity will be 1,800 tons of pig iron a day, compared with 800 tons of the old.

The roughing mill shown at right, which reduces hot slabs of steel to thickness of about $\frac{3}{4}$ inch, was one of the early major additions during the '50's.

A Decade Of Rapid Expansion

Most of the facilities at Granite City Steel's integrated modern plant have been built or enlarged in the last 10 years. The company has grown more rapidly than the steel industry average, just as the Tri-Cities have been gaining in population and jobs more rapidly than the national average. During the 1950's, Granite City Steel was transformed from a marginal steel producer into a strong supplier of flat rolled products to manufacturers in the Midwest, South and Southwest. The number of Granite City Steel employees has almost doubled in the last 10 years. Some of the aspects of this growth of the past decade are pictured on these adjoining two pages.

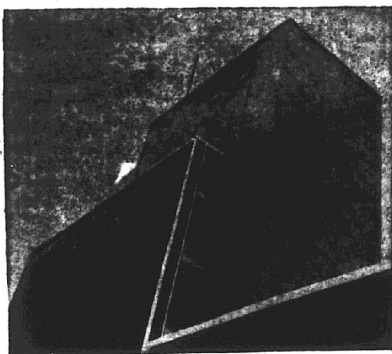

Present electrolytic tin plate line, which coats sheet steel with tin for use in cans, is product of an earlier expansion program. It soon is to be supplemented by a second line.

New electrolytic tin plate line, shown under construction above, will be first major project of 1960's to be completed. Scheduled to go into operation in April, it will have capacity of 12,000 tons a month — 1½ times that of present line. A second continuous galvanizing line also is on order, to be in operation in 1961.

Another facet of growth of the past decade was the opening in 1954 of the Bi-State Agency's Granite City Harbor and dock on the Chain of Rocks canal. Financed by prepayment of dock leases by Granite City Steel, the facility made the inland waterways more practical for shipment of steel by barges, like that shown above being loaded with packaged steel at the Granite City dock.

Today . . . the new main offices — the Granite City Steel Building.
